

I have no interest whether xm radio survives or not but I resent the government interfering with our system to the point of restraining free trade. How on earth can our lawmakers justify one private radio station offering traffic reports while denying another entity the same right. The only justification is the putting the interest of one over another based upon personal interests, in other words corruption.

In addition, I listen to XM radio. Why should I be denied weather and traffic information because I exercise my right to chose.

Regards,

Victor Kolvites